Beautiful Decay

December 7, 2013

NADA (New Art Dealers Alliance), founded in 2002, is a not-for-profit art fair that showcases international galleries in New York, Miami Beach, and Cologne. NADA's exhibitors are a breath of fresh air; the young vibe, the weirdness, and progressiveness of this exposition is hard to dismiss.

Here, I gather the most interesting works at the expo:

Estonian artist Kris Lemsalu sculpts and stages grotesque figures. In this particular set, it seems, are two very strange looking dogs(?), wrapped around sleeping bags. I'm not sure what is artist is going for here, but it seems to me that he is trying to set a scene, and a specific one at that. Both 'dogs' are covering their eyes, they are wrapped tightly, and they hovering amongst themselves; might it be that these are scared 'dogs' at an estranged camp of sorts?
